Single storey rear extension and internal alterations to create an open plan living space

This timber framed single storey extension transformed a living space in a dwelling to create a generous living space for all the family to co-exist.

A structural steel frame was required to support the existing masonry on the levels above. We worked with the architects to detail the steelwork so it could be expressed as an exposed steel structure.

The single storey rear extension had a vertical stack bonded brick external finish fixed back to a structural timber frame behind.
